Later we return to the hotel for supper and relaxation.

Day 6: Ukhahlamba ne Nkanyamba

The majestic, mostly untouched mountain range, the Drakensberg will be the main focus of the day. Today we visit sites of San-Bushman Rock Art, some of which date back 2 000 years. The Drakensberg or Ukhahlamba as it is called in isiZulu, is Africa's highest mountain range south of Kilimanjaro, and the largest and most concentrated series of rock art paintings in Africa - making it a World Heritage site of both natural and cultural significance.

The San-Bushman paintings are situated about 2.5km from Giant Castle, and a leisurely hike gets us there in about 45 minutes. We follow the well-marked Bushman's River Trail through grasslands and over a mountain stream until we arrive at the Main Caves. On the way, we might see an Eland buck or two, or even a bearded vulture flying overhead.

After all the exercise we stop for lunch at iZimbali Restaurant for lunch.

After a morning of immersive San-Bushman history we drive through Natal Midlands to the Nelson Mandela Capture Site. On 5 August 1962, police stopped a car on a lonely country road in KwaZulu Natal. At the wheels was Nelson Mandela, posing as a chauffeur, and his arrest was a catalyst for a series of trials, culminating in the Rivonia Treason Trial that would ultimately see him spending 27 years in prison. Today, the site of his arrest is marked by an impressive sculpture.

We then make our way into Howick, a quaint town with an interesting history, we view the Howick Falls a 100 meter drop. According to legend, the pool at the bottom of the falls is the residence of the Inkanyambe, a giant serpent-like creature, and only a Sangoma can safely approach the falls and then offer prayers and acts of worship to Inkanyamba.

Later we return to the hotel for supper.

Day 7: Ubukhosi Nezombusazwe

Today we take a journey through history and explore the Inanda Valley north of Durban as we go through what has been termed Inanda Heritage Route, which highlights key figures and events in South African history, particularly those related to the struggle against apartheid and the rise of democracy.

Our journey starts in Phoenix where we visit Phoenix Settlement. The settlement was founded by Mahatma Gandhi in 1904 and features Gandhi's house and printing press, offering insights into his philosophy of passive resistance and his time in South Africa.

We then proceed to Inanda Seminary. Founded in 1869 by American missionaries Daniel and Lucy Lindley, Inanda Seminary is one of the oldest and most prestigious all-girls boarding school in South Africa. It was established to provide quality education to black girls during a time when such opportunities were not available. The school has played a pivotal role in nurturing female leaders who have made significant contributions to South African society. Notable alumnae include Baleka Mbete, Nokukhanya Bhengu, Thandi Orleyn and Nozizwe Madlala-Routledge.

While in Inanda we visit another school, Ohlange Institute, which was founded by Rev. John Dube, the first president of the ANC when the ANC was formed in 1912. Ohlange Institute was a centre of education and community development, reflecting the broader struggle for liberation. This was the first Black-founded school in South Africa and was self-sufficient, with its own printing press and agricultural projects. This was also a centre for African Renaissance thought.

After lunch at Sbu's Comfort Lounge we drive around Inanda township and view Ekuphakameni, Shembe sacred site, located near Ebuhleni village, and an important aspect of the cultural aspect of Inanda. Nelson Mandela cast his vote in the South Africa's first democratic elections in Inanda, highlighting the township's pivotal role in the transition to democracy. After voting he stood alone at Dr. John Dube's grave and said, "Mr. President, I have come to report that South Africa is free."

After an eventful day of South Africa's history lesson we take time to reflect over supper, drinks and entertainment at Max Lifestyle in Umlazi.
